Thank you for choosing Rady Children’s.

ABOUT Rady Children’s

Our outstanding team includes 992 physicians and more than 5,100 employees; more than 1,500 nurses; and more than 1,000 auxiliary members and 500 active volunteers. As San Diego has grown, so has our commitment to offering comprehensive care to children in our community and beyond. Visitor Information

At Rady Children’s, the safety of our patients and families is one of our top priorities. All visitors are required to wear a visitor badge on campus at all times. For details on locations for obtaining a badge, see page 10.

Those 18 and older who wish to visit an inpatient unit are asked to present a government-issued identification card to receive a visitor badge. ID cards are compared to Megan’s Law public registry to identify individuals who may pose a risk to children. Rady Children’s reserves the right to use this information to restrict access to the Hospital as appropriate to ensure the safety and security of patients, visitors and staff.

Guests visiting an outpatient unit or most other areas of the Rady Children’s campus will be issued a paper badge that indicates the area they will be visiting.
When Your Child Is Admitted

You will receive an admissions packet when your child is admitted. This packet includes the following:

- Patient Bill of Rights and patient and guardian fact sheets. Please review these documents carefully.
- Your signed copy of registration, consent for treatment and confidentiality documents.

Your child will receive an identification wristband. Rady Children’s team members will check this band prior to any treatment, medication administration, location transfer or other aspects of care. Please alert the charge nurse if you do not see this being done.

Parents or legal guardians may designate up to a total of four Partners in Care to receive special green wristbands, which let Hospital staff know who is allowed in the Hospital after 9 p.m. The wristband must be worn at all times and is nontransferable.

Partners in Care are caregivers chosen by parents/legal guardians based upon their commitment and availability to provide physical and emotional support to the patient.

Partners in Care usually have unrestricted access to the patient, 24 hours a day. On occasion, visitation may be limited or restricted temporarily to protect a patient’s privacy, health and safety, such as treatment for another patient in a semi-private room.

Partners in Care have the following special privileges:
- Discounts on extended parking.
- Room service from the Hospital café. Pay via credit card or EASE card (see Food Services on page 20) from the child’s room. Some restrictions may apply; please ask about rules in your unit.
- Free coffee or tea (from carts on patient floors).
- Access to family rooms, library, chapel, gardens, playroom and playgrounds.
- Access to The Ronald McDonald House (see page 25 for detailed information).
YOUR ROLE
We appreciate that you’re trusting us with your child’s care. At Rady Children’s, that trust goes both ways, and we honor your expertise and knowledge in your child’s experience at Rady Children’s.

The following outlines a few ways you can help us provide excellent care:

BE AN ADVOCATE FOR YOUR CHILD. Don’t be shy. Ask questions about your child’s care, raise safety concerns you have or ask the health care provider to double-check your child’s chart before they act. Write down your questions to make sure the health care provider addresses them. You might say, “Excuse me, I have a few questions before you start treatment. Would you mind answering them, please?”

SHARE WHAT MAKES YOUR CHILD UNIQUE. You know your child best, and can introduce health care providers to things that may be important to overall care (e.g., your child has a fear of animals or only likes to eat food cut in small pieces).

WASH. Wash your hands and your child’s hands when entering and leaving the Hospital, your patient room, the bathroom and any treatment rooms (such as X-ray), and be sure to wash if you have handled any soiled material. Don’t be hesitant to ask a health care provider if you don’t see proper handwashing. You might say, “Excuse me, I didn’t see you wash your hands. I’d like to be sure everyone’s hands are clean. Please wash them before caring for my child.”

STAY CLEAN and DRY. If your child has an intravenous catheter or a wound, keep the skin around the dressing clean and dry and let your health care provider know if it gets wet or loose.

VOICE YOUR CONCERNS. If you see anything that concerns you, notify your child’s health care provider. We WANT to know if anything troubles you. See “Rapid Response Team Information” on the introductory page of this guide or page 28 for more information about who to call if you feel uncomfortable after speaking with your child’s nurse or physician.

KNOW THE MEDICATIONS. Ask for the names of the medications your child is receiving in the Hospital and how they are expected to help your child. Health care providers will check your child’s identification band before giving a medication to make certain the correct medication is being given. If you don’t see this, ask staff to double-check that the medication is for your child. You might say, “Excuse me, that medication is not familiar to me. Can you please double-check it against my child’s chart?”
FAMILY-CENTERED CARE

During a hospital experience with your child, things are often overwhelming and stressful. Parents come seeking advice, answers, treatments, cures and support from their doctors and nurses. We feel it is most important to involve the patient and family throughout hospitalization. Our first step is through family-centered rounds, in which you and your child’s doctor and nurse collaborate on your child’s care. Other members of your medical team; such as training doctors, medical students, respiratory therapists or pharmacists; may also join you.

During rounds, we collectively discuss how your child is doing, review any test results and make a plan for the day. Allowing the family to be part of this daily plan has proven to calm nerves, increase satisfaction with the experience and decrease time spent inpatient. This approach also empowers each patient family to make decisions, helps promote a safe and effective hospital stay, and supports families as they prepare to return home.

Providing a Safe Environment for Your Child

Safety is of the utmost importance at Rady Children’s, and we have a number of specific guidelines in place to uphold our standards and support excellent care.

WE PROMISE TO DO OUR BEST TO KEEP YOUR CHILD SAFE

- We will wash our hands before and after administering care.
- We will check your child’s identification wristband before providing food, medication or therapies.
- We will respect your child’s privacy needs.
- We will talk to you about the medications your child is taking at home, is getting in the Hospital and will be sent home with. Side effects of these medications also will be addressed.
- We will teach you how to care for your child in the Hospital and when you get home.
- We will partner with you to maintain your child’s safety by asking that you stay with your child when we perform physical exams or provide treatment.
PRIVACY AND APPROPRIATE RELATIONSHIPS

• Rady Children’s staff members are trained to respect the privacy and confidentiality of our patients by not discussing medical and family issues with other patients and families. We ask that you also respect the privacy of other patients and their families. If families share information with you, please do not discuss that information with others.

• You may take photos of your child in the Hospital. Please respect other patients’ privacy and DO NOT take pictures of them. Please obtain consent before taking photos of staff.

• We will never share information about your child on social media without your consent. While we’d love for you to “like” the official Rady Children’s Facebook page and follow us on Twitter and Instagram, please know that our policies prevent employees from following or interacting with you on social media.

• While we recognize and deeply appreciate the fact that some patients and families wish to give our staff gifts, please understand that we cannot accept them. Your words of appreciation are gifts in themselves! For information on how to provide formal recognition, see pages 28 and 31.

• Over the course of treatment, sometimes it can feel as though a nurse or other staff member becomes a member of the family. Our staff values these bonds, but it is important that they maintain professional relationships with all families, and not participate in activities outside of the Hospital.

DEPRESSION SCREENINGS

At Rady Children’s, we believe in managing care for the whole child, which includes both their physical and mental health.

According to the National Institute of Mental Health, one in five teens will experience depression during adolescence. Children under stress; who experience loss; or have attention, learning, conduct or anxiety disorders are at a higher risk for depression. Depression also tends to run in families, and can be very harmful if left untreated. The good news is that depression is a treatable illness.
To that end, all Rady Children’s patients 12 and older are screened for depression using an evidence-based tool. Based on a patient’s scoring, providers may refer patients to appropriate resources and determine the need to transfer to the Rady Children’s emergency department for further assessment.

Resources from the American Academy of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry (“Depression in Children and Teens” and “When to Seek Help for Your Child,” available at www.aacp.org) are intended to make you aware of the signs and symptoms of depression. If one or more of these signs persists, parents should seek help for their child. In order to ensure your child’s safety, should they present with risk for depression or harm to themselves or others, it is important to safely secure any firearms, sharp objects or medications in a locked and secure area inaccessible to children.

VISITING GUIDELINES

• Visits from parents, guardians, brothers, sisters and other loved ones play an important role in your child’s recovery.

• All visitors must check in at one of the following information desks:
  • Nelson Family Pavilion (entrance 9 located on Frost Street; open 5 a.m.–10 p.m. Monday through Friday).
  • Rose Pavilion (entrance 1 located on Children’s Way; open 6 a.m.–10 p.m. daily).
  • Acute Care Pavilion (entrance 2 located on Children’s Way; open 24/7).

Visitor badges or Partners in Care wristbands must be worn at all times, and cannot be used by anyone other than the direct recipient.

• The number of visitors should be limited.

• Partners in Care are welcome to visit any time unless there is a danger of spreading illness (such as during a severe flu season), while a surgical procedure is in progress in the department or if an emergency is occurring in the area.

• Siblings and other family and friends may visit 8 a.m.–9 p.m.

• During the winter months, when rates of flu and respiratory illnesses are at their highest, we limit visiting in our inpatient units. To protect our patients, parents and designated Partners in Care are the only ones we allow to visit during these times. Outpatient visits should also be limited to the patient and parent(s) only. Year-round, the following individuals are restricted from visiting:
  • Anyone with illnesses such as a cold or the flu, or symptoms such as coughing, sneezing, sore throat, vomiting, diarrhea or rash.
  • Anyone who has not had the chicken pox, measles or other infectious diseases and has had a known exposure in the past three weeks. If you or any visitors received the chicken pox vaccine within the last three weeks, talk to your child’s nurse before visiting.
VISITOR CONDUCT

- Be considerate of other patients and visitors.
- Do not use cell phones in areas where they are prohibited.
- Do not take photographs or video/audio recordings of staff or other patient families without their permission, and never post images on social media without permission.
- Treat Rady Children’s staff, facilities and equipment in a respectful and appropriate manner.
- Do not bring alcohol, illicit drugs, weapons (including knives or pepper spray) or pets onto Rady Children’s property.
- Respect that Rady Children’s is a non-smoking facility. Smoking and vaping are strictly forbidden on campus.
- Follow Rady Children’s policies for infection prevention and control, including hand hygiene and following isolation procedures.
- Do not enter restricted areas unless escorted by Rady Children’s staff.
- To protect the property of patients and of the Hospital, please leave Rady Children’s property in the room/unit at time of discharge.

MEDICATION

- Tell your child’s doctor about all medications and doses that your child is taking, including over-the-counter medications, herbs, vitamins and home remedies.
- Tell your child’s doctor and nurse about any allergies or adverse drug reactions that your child has experienced.
- Ask for information about your child’s medicines in terms you can understand.
- Know that our inpatient pharmacy may use different medication brands, doses or packaging than your home pharmacy.
PATIENT AND EXAM ROOM GUIDELINES

• Do not disconnect or reconnect tubing or devices without supervision from a health care team member.

• Keep all side rails up and locked, unless you are standing next to the bed. Do not allow children to climb over the side rails. Lower the side rails when getting your child in and out of bed.

• Keep beds at the lowest possible position. Do not allow children to stand on beds, exam tables or chairs.

• Make sure the canopy sides (tops) of “bubble top” cribs are pulled down and in the locked position when you step away. For regular cribs, the side rails should be up to a level that is higher than your baby.

• Do not leave your baby while they are lying on a chair, bedside cot or exam table.

• Ensure your child sleeps alone in their bed. Please do not lie down with your child in bed or allow your child to sleep with you in a chair.

• Be aware that doors and privacy curtains will be open, except as specifically requested by patients or families or if a medical test would be compromised with the presence of light. Clinically invasive procedures necessitating the use of privacy curtains require the presence of two people at the bedside.

• Keep in mind that most medical equipment has an alarm, which helps staff make sure your child is safe. When the alarm sounds, it lets staff know that something needs to be checked. It is important to let the alarm beep; do not turn it off. If your child’s nurse does not respond quickly, use the nurse call system and ask for assistance.

SAFE SLEEP GUIDELINES

Rady Children’s is proud to support the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development’s Safe to Sleep campaign, which centers on reducing sleep-related causes of infant death.

When putting your infant to bed, whether in the Hospital or at home, the following tips can help reduce their risk:

• Place infants (less than a year old) on their back every time they sleep, even for a short nap

• Avoid having babies sleep on adult beds or furniture such as couches or chairs

• Put babies into their cribs when their caregiver is falling asleep

• Use a firm mattress with a tight-fitting sheet, and avoid having items such as blankets, toys or bumpers around a sleeping baby

For more information, visit www.rchsd.org/patients-visitors/safe-sleep-practices
INFECTION PREVENTION

The following efforts help our staff and patient families work together to protect patients’ health and safety and prevent the spread of infection:

HAND WASHING. Wash your hands when entering and exiting your child’s room, before and after touching your child, and as needed. You can expect all health care providers to wash their hands before and after caring for your child. Ask your health care provider to wash their hands if you don’t know that it’s been done. Alcohol gel or soap and water are both effective ways to clean hands.

RESPIRATORY INFECTION PREVENTION. Many diseases are spread through sneezes and coughs. To prevent the spread of infection, cover your nose and mouth when you cough or sneeze. Use a tissue, or cough into your elbow. If you use your hands to cover your mouth, wash your hands right away. Encourage others to cover their coughs as well. If you are sick, but feel you still need to be at the Hospital with your child, please talk to your child’s nurse about extra precautions that you should take, such as wearing a mask to prevent spreading illness.

STANDARD PRECAUTIONS. As part of standard precautions, all health care providers will wear protective equipment (clean gloves, masks and gowns) if needed when providing care and performing certain tasks.

TRANSMISSION-BASED PRECAUTIONS (contact, airborne or droplet). Additional precautions may be taken when patients have confirmed or suspected infectious illnesses. A sign will be placed on your child’s door indicating the type of precautions in place. Your nurse can provide you with additional information on the type of precautions needed during your child’s hospitalization.

A CLEAN ROOM IS A HIGH PRIORITY. We ask that you limit the items you bring from home to only those necessary for your child. This allows our staff to clean the room and helps us provide safe care without clutter. Decorations can only be posted on the boards of each room, and cannot include tape or stickers.
No one wants to see a child in pain. At Rady Children’s, our pain services team; comprising physicians, nurse practitioners, child life specialists, physical therapists, psychologists, social workers and integrative medicine specialists; works to relieve patients’ pain to the fullest extent possible. Acute pain therapy for hospitalized children and outpatient therapy for chronic pain are available to all patients with an order from their doctor.

PAIN IN CHILDREN

Children respond differently to pain based on their age. While some pain and discomfort is typical after a surgery, injury or certain illness, pain that is severe or that persists can interrupt your child’s healing process. We believe nearly all pain can be treated safely and effectively, and our goal is to make your child as comfortable as possible during their recovery. In addition to monitoring your child’s pulse, blood pressure, temperature and breathing rate, we will routinely measure your child’s pain level while they are in our care.

We use pain measurement tools based on your child’s age and level of development. In younger children or in children who cannot express their pain level, we measure pain using the Faces Legs Activity Cry Consolability Revised Scale, or FLACC-R. With FLACC-R, a medical expert will observe and assess behavior and provide a score of zero, one or two in each category – face, legs, activity, crying and ability to be consoled. The expert will then calculate a total score, and pain reduction methods are typically implemented when the child is determined to be at a level three or higher. In older children, we measure pain using a scale of zero to 10, where zero equals no pain and 10 equals severe pain. We want to give pain treatment for a pain rating of five or above. Let us know when your child’s pain is at a five to seven instead of waiting until your child’s pain is at a seven or higher.

Wong-Baker FACES® Pain Rating Scale

- 0: No Hurt
- 2: Hurts Little Bit
- 4: Hurts Little More
- 6: Hurts Even More
- 8: Hurts Whole Lot
- 10: Hurts Worst
HELPING CHILDREN COPE WITH PAIN

Infants
Infants rely on parents to notice their pain. Look for decreased activity, restless movement, loss of appetite, clinging or whining.

Parents can use soothing techniques including the following:
  - Pacifier
  - Rocking
  - Holding
  - Soothing voice
  - Gentle massage

School Age (6 to 12)
School-age children can relate to bodily pain and tell you its location. As with younger children, children in this age range may feel guilt, associating their pain with punishment.

The following tactics can help school age children cope with pain:
  - Distraction
  - Positive thinking
  - Massage
  - Deep breathing
  - Musical instruments

Toddlers and Preschoolers
Young children relate to pain primarily as a physical experience. Reassure your child that their pain is not punishment or a result of their behavior.

Children in this age group can be comforted with techniques including the following:
  - Rocking
  - Holding
  - Listening to music
  - Playing

Adolescents (13 and Older)
Teenagers are often afraid of looking weak or losing control and can hesitate to show feelings of pain. Reassure your child when they cry or express pain in other ways.

This age group may require more practice with relaxation and coping techniques, such as the following, than other groups:
  - Distraction
  - Relaxation
  - Imagination
  - Deep breathing
During your child’s stay, various care providers and allied health professionals may be involved in your child’s care. Our staff members wear identification badges bearing acronyms of their roles (outlined below) and are required to introduce themselves before caring for your child. Please ask if you don’t know why a team member is in your child’s room.

WHO YOU WILL SEE

Attending physicians (MD/DO) are doctors who supervise or lead a team of doctors and have responsibility for patients’ medical care. Physicians at this level have finished a residency program and can practice independently. They supervise and teach residents, interns and medical students.

Registered nurses (RN) are responsible for patient clinical assessment, implementing both the medical and nursing plans of care, collaborating with the interdisciplinary team, and coordinating and providing patient and family education. There is always an RN responsible for your child’s nursing care.

Our health care providers are your partners in ensuring excellence in care for your child. Please do not hesitate to talk with us about any questions or concerns.
WHO YOU MAY SEE

Child life specialists (CCLS) work with children and families in the Hospital to help them cope with the challenges of hospitalization, illness and disability.

Dietitians (RD) specialize in food and nutrition. They advise families and children on making healthy lifestyle choices and how to maintain a balanced diet.

Fellows (MD/DO) are doctors who have completed their primary residency and have chosen to pursue advanced training in a particular specialty.

Medical students are learning to become a doctor. The medical students you meet will be in their third or fourth year of medical school.

Nurse practitioners (NP) are nurses with advanced graduate-level education who are licensed to diagnose and prescribe treatment, including medications, and perform complex clinical procedures. They work in collaboration with physicians and other health care professionals.

Occupational therapists (OT) help infants and children with activities related to daily living, such as feeding.

Patient care assistants (PCA) support nurses by performing basic tasks such as bathing, taking vital signs and feeding patients.

Pharmacists (PharmD) specialize in medication therapy management and advise patients and health care professionals on the best use of medications in and outside the Hospital. You may also meet pharmacy residents (pharmacy school graduates receiving specialized training in pediatric medication therapy) and pharmacy interns (fourth-year pharmacy school students).

Physical therapists (PT) help children with coordination and movement by using exercise and various physical intervention techniques.

Resident/interns (MD/DO) are doctors who are in a residency program. Residency is a time when a doctor gets extra training in a specialty area, such as pediatrics, before becoming an attending physician. You may have several different residents with different levels of training check on your child.

Respiratory therapists (RT or RCP) specialize in your child’s respiratory (breathing) needs by performing frequent assessments, providing treatment and educating on breathing-related conditions.

Social workers (SW) offer assistance and support services for patients and families, including grief counseling, crisis intervention or referrals for community resources.
ATM
An ATM is located in the café in the Hahn Pavilion. A second ATM is available in the Rose Pavilion, just past the gift shop.

BIOETHICS TEAM
When a child is sick or injured, families may face tough choices when deciding what is best for their care. Parents may not see eye to eye because of different values or religious beliefs. Families and the medical team may disagree about what is in the child’s best interest. A chronically sick child may want to stop treatment. These and other “ethical dilemmas” arise in circumstances where there may be no obviously right or wrong answer. When ethical issues make decision-making confusing or agonizing, our bioethics team can help.

The bioethics team includes a nurse, a social worker or chaplain, and a physician. The team is trained to work together and listen to everyone involved to identify sources of agreement and disagreement. Their goal is to help create consensus about what is best for the child and recommend a plan for how to achieve that. A bioethics consultation typically involves meetings between the bioethics team and your child’s providers. Families may choose whether or not they would like to attend. Consultations may also take place more informally. At the end of the process, the bioethics team provides recommendations based on your child’s case and extensive experience in helping families in similar circumstances. Final decision-making remains in your hands, and in those of your child’s medical team.

If you would like to access this service, please ask a member of your care team to contact the bioethics team for you. You may also call 858-576-1700 and ask the operator to contact a member of the bioethics team.

CHAPEL
The chapel is always open to visitors of all faiths for prayer, meditation or quiet reflection. The chapel is located on the first floor of the Rose Pavilion, behind the lobby.
ENTERTAINMENT

Inpatient units throughout the Hospital offer a number of entertainment options for patients and family members, such as games, play rooms and creative activities. For options specific to your child’s unit, please ask any member of their care team for information.

Rady Children’s also provides TV in all patient rooms, with channels catering to all ages. RESEARCH

Rady Children’s is committed to discovering new treatments for childhood diseases. Through our affiliation with the University of California San Diego School of Medicine, St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital and other world-class research institutions, our patients benefit from basic, clinical and translational research – and from the best minds in medicine working together.

While you are at Rady Children’s, you may have the opportunity for your child to participate in a research study, such as a clinical trial. Clinical trials are voluntary research initiatives designed to answer specific questions about the safety and effectiveness of drugs, vaccines and other therapies. These studies are important because they aim to develop treatments specifically for children, as children may respond differently to therapies than adults. Their responses may also change as they age from infancy through childhood and into adolescence.

Research is vital to solving many of today’s health challenges, and Rady Children’s is one of the leading sites in the United States for pediatric research studies. By participating in research, you have a unique opportunity to contribute to the future of health care.

For specific information on research studies and what projects your child may qualify for, consult with their physician. You can also learn more by visiting www.rchsd.org/research, emailing research@rchsd.org or calling research administration at 858-966-5934.

YOUR NURSE WILL GO OVER THE DISCHARGE INSTRUCTIONS FROM YOUR CHILD’S DOCTOR

Going Home

Your doctors and nurses will keep you informed of the plans for discharge from Rady Children’s. The expected date is usually decided a few days prior to discharge day. We encourage you to prepare by learning about any new medications your child will need, any new home equipment that will be set up and anything else that will help you care for your child at home. Your child’s doctor, nurse and case manager will help you with these details.

DAY-OF PROCEDURES

Your child’s doctor or nurse will contact you to tell you that your child is ready to go home. You will need to be at your child’s bedside for most of the day to speak with your child’s doctors and nurses and to review important discharge instructions and home care needs. If your child needs any medications, the orders will be sent to the Rady Children’s outpatient pharmacy. Your nurse will let you know when the medications are ready to be picked up.

CALIFORNIA CAR SEAT SAFETY: IT’S THE LAW

Children under age 2 must ride in a rear-facing car seat unless the child weighs 40 or more pounds OR is 40 or more inches tall. The child must be secured in a manner that complies with the height and weight limits specified by the manufacturer of the car seat. Children under age 8 must be secured in a car seat or booster seat in the back seat.

If your child meets this criteria, your nurse can provide you with a brochure on information about the law and local resources to assist with obtaining a car seat or having your seat inspected for proper installation.
Questions and Feedback

Rady Children’s is committed to providing high-quality, compassionate care to every patient family. An important part of this process is receiving feedback. Some patient families will be randomly selected to receive a phone survey. This survey is specific to the department where your child was last seen. We invite you to give honest feedback, and will use your thoughts to update or enhance our offerings and ensure an excellent experience.
