Lyons is expanding the voluntary recall due to the potential for microbial contamination, including from the organisms Cronobacter sakazakii and Clostridium botulinum. Although Clostridium botulinum has not been found in products, consumers are warned not to consume any of the recalled products. While infection related to Cronobacter sakazakii is rare, the common symptoms of illness could include fever, vomiting and urinary tract infection. Clostridium botulinum may cause a severe form of food poisoning. It can begin from six hours to two weeks after eating food that contains the toxin. Symptoms may include double vision, blurred vision, drooping eyelids, slurred speech, difficulty swallowing, and muscle weakness. Botulism poisoning can cause respiratory paralysis, resulting in death, unless assistance with breathing (mechanical ventilation) is provided.

Please immediately examine any inventory and destroy the affected formula.

We want you to know that we have inventory of these products that is not impacted by the recall available for your patients. For more information on the Lyons recall, visit <https://myproductinformation.com/product-information/>.

We understand you may have questions. Please direct your questions to hcpinfo@katefarms.com and be sure to include your name, phone, practice location and your questions.

The health and safety of your patients is our highest priority, and we understand how busy you are. Thank you for your cooperation and support.

To identify whether you have any recalled product, see the instruction guide below.

Sincerely,

Casey Bauer
EVP, Chief Operations Officer

Product Identification Instruction Guide:

There are two ways to determine if your product is impacted by the recall, by lot code or by manufacturing plant code.

Please see the image below to identify the lot code.

Or, if your product is not expired yet and lists the manufacturing plant code 55-446, it is part of the recall and should be destroyed or returned. Please see the image below to identify the manufacturing plant code.
